TARGET PAY RANGES

01. Average market rate

$600

/ 30 VIDEOS

Or $1,000 for 60 videos. Average, but still worth taking.

02. Good offer

$700-$1K

/ 20-30 VIDEOS

Above average. If you're offered this, take it.

03. Ideal target offer

$1,000+

/ 20-30 VIDEOS

Rare, and above industry average. What experienced creators aim for.

Our recommendation: don't take an offer below these ranges.

DIFFERENT PAYMENT STRUCTURES

01. Base retainer

Guaranteed monthly pay. Predictable, less upside.

02. CPM

Paid per 1,000 views. Example: $3.50 CPM × 1 million views = $3,500. We don't recommend accepting a CPM deal below $3.50 CPM.

03. Retainer + view bonuses

The best of both: guaranteed income plus performance upside.

HOW TO NEGOTIATE

01. Know their payment structure

Are all creators on the same payment structure? Is there room to renegotiate later? Big campaigns usually fix base pay; small campaigns are more likely to negotiate.

03. Counter upward

Name a range slightly above their number, then ask if it's within their ballpark.

02. Let them speak first

"What are creators typically getting paid on this campaign?" Their number is your starting point.

04. Read the response

Accept: confirm in writing. Counter: meet in the middle. Decline: decide if the original rate is worth it. Don't negotiate forever.

YOUR COUNTER, WORD FOR WORD

"At this point in my UGC career, and taking into account my current bandwidth, I can only accept a payment structure in the range of $___ for ___ videos. Is that within the general ballpark of what you can pay your creators?"
